IMMENSE INCREASE IN PUPILS AT CITY COMMON SCHOOLS

Property Valuations Now $428,000 Compared With $389,000 Last Year—Superintendent White Says Past Year Most Successful in History of Schools

Figures available today at the office of Superintendent of Schools Richarson D. White, which are included in his annual report to the board of education, show that an expenditure of $172,018.24 was made during the year 1920-1921, for the maintenance of the Glendale city schools, as compared with $109,409.86 for the previous school year.

When it is considered that during the school year the cost to maintain each pupil amounted to $55.35 as compared to $71.86 for the past year, and that the average school attendance for 1920 was 1733 as compared with 2182 for the year ended, the increased expenditure for school purposes becomes clearly evident. Increased salaries for the superintendent and teachers also go to account for the added cost of education. Disbursements in this direction for the past year were $120,185.25, as compared with $78,683.90 for the year previous.

Support Ten Schools

Ten schools were maintained for nine and one-half months each during the year ended in June, and seven kindergartens were open, employing a total of 86 principals and teachers and nine janitors. The annual average salary of principals was $1895.25 and of teachers, $1442.25. Janitor service cost the school system $11,005.

Property valuations for the year 1920-1921 are listed as follows: School sites, $118,000; school buildings, $275,000; school furniture, $30,000; school apparatus, $5000. This makes a total valuation of $428,000 as compared with a valuation of $389,000 attached to school property last year.

Increased Attendance

The increase of almost 25 per cent in average daily school attendance for 1920-1921 over the year 1919-1820, is shown in the following table of schools:

School—	1919-1920	1920-1921
Intermediate	310	454
Columbus	245	291
Cerritos	256	304
Broadway	195	235
Colorado	200	222
Pacific	204	245
Central	165	189
Doran	72	139
Acacia	61	80
Magnolia	25	24
TOTALS	1733	2182

These figures stand out in decided contrast to school reports compiled when Glendale was in its infancy. A record of the minutes of the school board meeting, May 10, 1892, signed by City Clerk J. C. Sherer, who was then clerk of the board of school trustees, shows that Prof. E. L. French was employed as principal of the Glendale school, located on the site of the present Broadway school, at a salary of $80 a month. Mrs. Nellie Potter, the other member of the teaching staff, received $65 a month for her services.

The current report to the board of education is accompanied by a statement from Superintendent R. D. White to the effect that the year just completed has been one of the most successful in the history of the Glendale school system. Statistics included in the report form the basis of a more detailed report filed with the county superintendent of schools for use in distributing school funds for the coming school year.

H. S. WEBB'S ANNUAL SALE OF DRY GOODS

Tomorrow, Friday will see the beginning of a mercantile event which will stamp Glendale as truly metropolitan in a business way. H. S. Webb is today announcing a big sale which he is putting on in a big way and with a proper setting for an affair as important as this will be to him and the buying public of our city.

This is no snap-shot thing in which the tag ends of department stocks will be scrambled together and dumped on bargain counters. On the contrary, it is something to which he has given weeks of serious thought and on which he has sought the advice of experts known throughout the trade. To him it means much because it is the first of a series of annual mid-summer sales which he plans to make a feature of his rapidly growing business, and he is determined to put it over right and put it over big.

For that reason he is including in this special offering nothing that is not a real bona fide bargain that will appeal to any shopper well informed in regard to values, and many articles are being listed at less than he paid the wholesale houses for them.

He appreciates the patronage of the Glendale public, which has made it possible for him to build up a dry-goods establishment that has surpassed his hopes and that would be a credit to a city much larger than our own. In a way, he feels that this sale will be a return for some of this patronage and not only cement relationships with old customers but bring him many new ones.

His business is his great, absorbing interest. He is a builder and wants that effect of life and growth to impress everyone who enters the doors of his place of business. His own enthusiasm is boundless and he has the happy faculty of communicating it to his employes and through them, of passing it on to the public. His sale is therefore not a necessity, but is prompted wholly by his desire to show the people of Glendale that he has now reached a point where he can follow the example of the big establishments in Los Angeles with an annual mechandising event that will interest everyone in the community. It is a sale of bargains at pre-war prices. If merchandise talks, the figures he is making will speak louder than words. All departments of the men's shop, as well as the main store, will be included. Extra clerks will be provided and every facility for the comfort and convenience of the shoppers will be offered.

Beginning tomorrow, the 22nd, the sale will last until the 31st, and Mr. Webb will be on hand himself to greet old friends and new ones and to see that they get the good service which is his proud boast.

MAN FROM ARIZONA HAS CONFIDENCE IN GLENDALE

A. G. Smith came to Glendale a few months ago from Arizona where he had been engaged in general contracting and the oil business. He is greatly pleased with Glendale and is helping greatly in its building expansion. He recently bought through J. T. Chandler of the Little Log Cabin real estate agency eight lots on Chestnut, one west and seven just east of Everett. Also one just south of these on Maple. Four room houses are rising on all these lots and several will soon be completed. Mr. Smith has bought lots in other parts of the city for the same purpose.

ECHOES OF Y. M. C. A. RECENT CAMP AT PINE FLATS

Was Better Than Ever This Year—Secretary Kelley Goes to Atascadero

Rex Kelley, secretary of the Glendale Y. M. C. A., is leaving this morning to attend the annual Y. M. C. A. school, which this year will be held at Atascadero instead of Asilomar, where sessions have taken place heretofore. It is a training school for Y. M. C. A. workers and to keep those actively engaged in touch with the latest developments. While secretaries are usually the chief attendants, it is open to anyone interested in this line of work for boys.

This is the quiet season for the local Y. M. C. A. groups because so many of the boys are away with their parents at resorts or on tours.

Mr. Kelley will be at Atascadero for about a month and on his return, activities will again be resumed in the way of over-night hikes to the Red Triangle cabin in the San Gabriel canyon.

The secretary states that the attendance on the Pine Flats camp was about the same as last year, but this time the camp was better organized and developed.

The boys had an exceedingly good time and returned in fine physical condition. They stood the hike back better than the hike in, which is hard at best, because there is a rise of 2700 feet to be climbed in the last three and one-quarter miles.

Next year a camp will be established midway between the Red Triangle cabin and Pine Flats, where the boys will be given a day's rest before tackling the last lap of the hike. This will be located at Rincon.

One of the special features of the camp this year was a daily newspaper called "The Sidesplitter." Each tent furnished a reporter and Thomas Stevenson of Burbank was the editor.

The campfires at night and the entertainments in connection also were extra good. Each tent was expected to give a program of stunts on some assigned date. In return for these entertainments the fourteen camp leaders combined in a minstrel show, given on a stage made upon the hillside, with branches of trees properly disposed for scenery and background. To provide footlights a long bonfire was laid and between it and the audience a stone wall was built, which threw the illumination on the stage. Prominent in camp recreation and a host in himself, was T. W. Poetum, of Claremont, who carried great responsibilities overseas during and after the world war. There he was placed in charge of recreation at the camp established by the British board of hospitals, at which 12,000 under-nourished children gathered from the devastated area in France, were cared for.

While Mr. Kelley is away, Mrs. Kelley and her little son Dick, will be at Catalina island.

GUESTS OF MR. AND MRS. GEORGE SMITH

Mrs. Farrell from Oakland, who has been visiting her niece, Mrs. Jeannette Smith of East Broadway, and other relatives in Southern California for the past two months, left a few days ago for the north by auto with a cousin from San Diego. She thought a journey of that kind would be the finishing touch to the pleasure of her sojourn here and a letter which Mrs. Smith has just received announces the safe arrival of the pair at San Luis Obispo. Mrs. Esther Smith, mother of George Smith, has come down from Riverside and will be his guest this summer. She is 94 years of age and the Smiths are delighted to have her with them.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF UTAH PEOPLE

Former residents of Utah will hold their annual picnic at the Santa Monica municipal pier Saturday. The affair will start at noon and conclude with dancing in the evening. More than 3000 former residents of Utah are expected to be present. Willard Doane, of Santa Monica, will be the chief speaker.

Divorce Rate in England

(By International News Service)

LONDON, July 21.—In more than 40 per cent of the divorce suits heard during 1919 there were no children of the marriage.

Husbands are more faithful than wives.

The first five years of married life are the easiest.

These striking facts are gleaned from a collection of official statistics issued as a White-paper by the Home Office.

The number of divorce suits rose from 2,689 in 1918 to 5,763 in 1919, an increase in one year of 114 per cent. The total for 1919 was three and a half times higher than that of 1913.

The most sensational comparison made in the report is that in which the divorce petitions are classified as follows:

Petitions by husbands.....4,132
Petitions by wives .....1,630.

A FOXY LETTER, BUT NO FOX TROTTING

A good friend of the Daily Press, a lady living on East Harvard street, recently received a letter from an old friend of the family who is now a United States marshal in Kodiak, Alaska. To while away the many hours not required by the very limited business of his office, the gentleman conducts the "Kodiak Fox Farm," on which he breeds foxes for their fur. This lady friend of the Press, thinking our readers would like to know something about this novel business, permits us to print a portion of the letter. There are over 100 such farms in the limits of the United States. The extract follows:

Mrs. Kate T. Pearson, 644 East Harvard street, Glendale, Calif.

"You will notice that our billhead calls for black, blue and cross foxes, which is not as it should be, as we have done away with both the black and cross, and are breeding blues entirely, as we find more money can be made with the blues. We gave the silvers and cross a good fair test, breeding both in wire pens and running loose on an island, expending $12,000 in the experiment, but found they were not a howling success, and are now devoting all our islands to blues.

"It is a good business. In fact, I do not know of a more profitable business than ranching with blue foxes, and so many are going into it. They do not do well in pens, in fact, no one around here has ever raised a blue fox in a pen. Although they mate, breed and whelp their puppies, they kill them at some time before they are large enough to take away, sometimes at birth and at other times when they are a month or two old. The method used here is to locate on some island (there are a great many scattered around) turn the foxes loose and let them make their own burrows. They are fed on fish of all kinds, which cost nothing but your time, if on a small scale. I have about five hundred barrels of salmon heads light salted for winter feeding for the Long Island ranch, and during the summer they are fed fresh salmon heads from the cannery that is situated about eight miles from Kodiak and in which I own an interest.

"The foxes whelp from three to as high as twelve pups, and I have known one mother to whelp twelve and raise them all.

"The skins, in normal times, bring from $80 to $150, depending upon the size and color.

"They become very tame on the island and like to hang around close to the dwelling house and, if permitted, will burrow underneath the house.

"Breeders can be bought for around $300 a pair. It is rather a lonesome life unless close to town."

TRUCK AND AUTO IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

There was quite an auto mixup at Riverdale drive and Central avenue yesterday, as Harley L. Cross of Los Angeles described it, in his report to police headquarters. He was driving a truck down Central avenue and as he turned out to pass around a machine in front of him, he collided head on with a machine driven by W. M. Fenstermacher, of 479 West Maple avenue. Both truck and auto suffered considerable damage.

MARCELLA MILLER BECOMES BRIDE OF DONALD M'LEOD

Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock Marcella Miller of 114 West Broadway and Donald Kerr McLeod of 1345 East Colorado Boulevard were married at the home of Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the Glendale Congregational Church of which the bride is a member.

The pretty bride who is much beloved by all who know her was gowned in white Canton crepe and carried a shower boquet of pink and white sweet peas. She was attended by her close friend and chum Miss Martha Rey who wore nile green satin with hat of silver tricolet. Just before the ceremony Miss Rey played Charles Wakefield Cadman's "Love Song." The witnesses were limited to Mrs. Ella Miller, mother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. George McLeod, parents of the groom and Miss Rey.

As soon as the service was completed the wedding party left for the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mc Leod where a wedding supper was served, the young people going later to the bungalow in which they will make their home for the summer months at 338 West California. Friends had been before them and they found it liberally decorated with old shoes, rice, and placards of interest to the newly wed.

They have been the recipients of many beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass, linen etc., not to speak of cash which they are to expend in such furnishings as they fancy. One of the checks for the bride was from the uncle of the groom upon whom she has made almost as deep an impression as upon Donald McLeod himself, who is connected with the Bartlett and French agency in this city.

The happy pair left at noon on the Yale for San Francisco and northern cities and on their return about the 10th of August will be at home to their friends at 338 West California. Later they plan to buy and build a home of their own.

Marcella McLeod was graduated from Glendale Union High with the class of 1919 and for the past two years have been following a course in Domestic Science at the Southern Branch University of California. She is therefore well equipped to make a comfortable and happy home for the fortunate young man who has won her hand.

'GOOD WORDS' CLUB TO VISIT HOSPITAL

Members of the Good Words club will visit the Children's hospital in Los Angeles tomorrow, according to arrangements made yesterday at a meeting of the club, when it was decided to meet at the home of Mrs. Gilchrist, 230 West Colorado street, at 2 o'clock. The automobile committee of the club has arranged for transportation.

At yesterday's meeting of the club, with twenty-three members present and three new members elected, a motion was made that members of the club should take the responsibility of caring for stray dogs and cats that they might find, until a home was found for them. A committee called at police headquarters yesterday afternoon and made arrangements whereby the police will see that drinking troughs for horses will be kept filled in the future.

KEPLERS ENJOYING AUTO TRIP IN NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. E. Kepler and son Lester who left here about the first of July are having a wonderful auto trip in the north. A letter recently received from Mrs. Kepler describes their camp at an elevation of 8400 feet and great fragrant fieleds of timothy and rd clover in view. They are planning to camp in the Yellowstone if the bears are not too numerous and friendly. If they decide not to stop there they will go on and make camp at the foot of Mount Ranier. They will not get home until about the first of September and will come by way of Portland and the coast route. In their absence Mr. Smith, father of Mrs. Kepler will have charge of their home.

ADVENTIST CAMP MEETING OPENS TODAY AT ALHAMBRA

Attendance of 2500 to 3000 Expected—Delegations Will Go From Glendale and Other Nearby Cities—Will Be Conducted Along Chautauqua Lines

Several weeks ago, Alhambra was selected as the best site for the annual camp meeting of Seventh-Day Adventists in Southern California, and that camp meeting opens today and continues until July 31. The grounds are located at the northeast corner of Second street and Alhambra road, and a tent city has been erected to shelter 300 families, with large tents provided for the various meetings. An attendance of 2500 laymen is expected, besides the entire staff of ministers and other workers in the Southern California conference, and visiting clergymen from all parts of the United States.

Delegations are booked from Paso Robles, Arroyo Grande, Oxnard, Santa Paula, Lancaster, San Fernando, Burbank, Pasadena, Sawtelle, Santa Monica, Long Beach, San Pedro, Pomona, Los Angeles and Glendale. Many families from this city are taking their camping paraphernalia.

The camp meeting will be conducted somewhat along the lines of a Chautauqua. There will be not less than twelve services a day, including lectures at 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m., with no admission charge of any kind.

Prominent in the meetings will be Elder J. W. Christian, president; F. E. Painter, field missionary secretary, and J. Adams Stephens, executive secretary of the home missionary department of the Pacific Union conference, all of this city. Evangelist Fred C. Gilbert, a converted Hebrew orator, will be there; R. D. Quinn, field secretary of the general conference, Washington, D. C.; Prof. C. L. Benson, of College View, Neb.; J. J. Nethery, of the Southeastern California conference; H. S. Shaw, president of the Central California conference, and others.

Last year at the camp meeting held in Los Angeles, Clarence E. Kimlin, manager of the Glendale sanitarium, had charge of the cafeteria maintained in connection therewith, at which 1500 people were fed daily. So well had he worked out the plan that it was ready for business as soon as the meetings opened and prepared to close up, with all bills paid, within a few hours after the last meal had been served. To open full blast for a ten-day session and close as suddenly without confusion, and to carry on the work efficiently, shows some system. Mr. Kimlin is not superintending that part of the work this year. Now that he is a member of the city council it will probably be impossible for him to be absent ten days.

One of the prominent features of the encampment this year will be the medical dispensary operated by the medical staff of the Glendale sanitarium. Special tents have been provided and trained nurses will be in attendance. Lectures on health and the rational treatment of disease, will be given by specialists during the meetings.

MUSICIANS ARE GLENDALE GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall Ellis of Chicago are the guests of E. Cleophas and family at 337 North Central Avenue, Glendale. Mrs. Ellis is a noted pianiste and student friend of Miss Gertrude Cleophas, they having spent five years together in Vienna, Austria, as pupils of the old Master Theodore Leachetizky. Miss Cleophas has been living in Minneapolis and joined Mrs. Ellis five weeks ago for a tour of the Northwest, including Glacier and Rainier National Parks, Portland, Spokane, Seattle and San Francisco. En route they attended the Portland convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers of which Mr. Ellis is a former president.

EXHIBIT PREPARED BY ART SECTION FOR FAIR

The art section, of the Glendale committee on the San Fernando Fair and Market, which is presided over by Miss Alice Frank, 1558 East Wilson street, urges local people to cooperate in displaying pictures, art craft, furniture, tapestry and other art objects at the fair so that Glendale's exhibit may not fall behind those of other towns in the valley.

If so desired arrangements may be made so that contributed exhibits may be sold. The fair is to be held in San Fernando from September 13 to 15. Miss Frank may be reached by telephone Glendale 747.

SPECIAL SUNDAY NIGHT PROGRAM

Special musical services have been arranged for Sunday evenings during the summer months at the First Methodist Church of Glendale which will be put on by the choir and include a miscellaneous program of solos, quartettes, choruses, and organ numbers. Rev. S. M. Crist will occupy the pulpit during the balance of the month as he does not take his vacation on "the rim of the world" until August. He has great plans for that month however when the Sunday night services will include an evening of poems by Alfred Tennyson which have been set to music, and an evening of negro spirituels. Dr. Ray Moore, former superintendent of this district will occupy his pulpit at least one Sunday, and Dr. Teeter one of the professors in the University of Southern California will also preach for him. Dr. Teeter has been all over the world in Christian service and his coming will be a treat.

ALARM TURNED IN FOR GRASS FIRE

Fire from a burning rubbish heap at Walnut and Magnolia yesterday afternoon communicating to dry grass and weeds, caused the turning in of a fire alarm from 202 West Palmer just north of there. The spread of the flames was quickly stopped by local fire fighters. Chief Lankford made a fast run to the threatened point.

A similar demonstration will be given tomorrow afternoon by Mrs. Sunderman and ladies of Glendale who are interested are most cordially invited to attend these demonstrations.

Complaint Made to Police

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

BEER DISCIPLES GET REAL GOODS

(By International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, July 21.—Comes the pathetic plaint from Louisville that the boys down there have been paying a dime a drink for "real" beer, that the "real thing" when analyzed by the city chemist failed to reveal more than the celebrated one-half of one per cent, and that the only thing real about it, after all, was a nice, hoppy flavor.

But Indianapolis goes the Kentucky metropolis one better.

One of the Hoosier capital's justly famous ex-saloon keepers, now dispensing near goods without camouflage or anything, recently discovered a keg of the old-time high voltage stuff in the cellar of his establishment.

Because Indiana's super-Volstead dry laws makes it rough for anyone caught harboring anything with a kick, it was imperative that the beer be disposed of forthwith.

This man said nothing but put the keg under a spigot and sold the goods over the bar—alcoholic contents and all—at a nickel per.

And he gives his word for it that every man who drank the stuff crabbed about prohibition and complained of lack of authority in the drink.

"Cured of Some of Our Illusions"-Trotzky

Soviet War Minister, in Moscow Speech, Concedes "Events Are Taking a Slower Course Than He Would Like"—Claims Communism Is Growing

By S. D. WEYER,
International New Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 21.—Penetrating for the first time the fog of conflicting reports and rumors as to the mental attitude of the Russian Soviet chieftains—their hopes and disappointments—the International News Service is able to give exclusive today the judgement of Leon Trotzky himself as to what he thinks has been and can be accomplished by the doctrines up which the Soviet Republic is founded.

Leon Trotzky.

In a speech before the International Communist Conference at Moscow, held in the latter part of June, and which has been published, even partly, on this side of the Atlantic, the Bolshevist War Minister, Lenine's right-hand man, admitted for the first time that the Bolshevist's goal is "not so near at hand as it seemed to many of us three or four years ago." He gave what he believed to be the reasons therefor, and added an expression of confidence that the Soviets would yet attain their aims. He showed at the same time that Moscow has not yet given up its hope for a "world revolution."

The text of the speech as wirelessed from Moscow to Berlin, was received by the International News Service in a circuitous route. It is this speech, presumably, upon which were based the many recent erroneous cable dispatches to the effect that Lenine and Trotzky had confessed to collapse of their doctrine and sytem. While the Red War Minister's speech contains no such admission, it does bear unmistakable earmarks of deep disappointment, if not partial disillusionment.

To avoid error or garbling in transmission the speech was forwarded to New York in the original form and language—German—in which it was cabled to Berlin, neatly pasted up in strips upon profusedly stamped blanks of the "Telegraphie des Deutscen Reiches," which still bear tht Prussian eagle in the top center.

Proletarian Pressure Urged

Trotzky's speech, which throws an illuminating light on the present temper of the Soviet leaders, follows:

"Your conference occurs at a time which is no longer as clear and well-defined as was the period immediately following the end of the war. Our enemies assert that the proletariat has proved its omnipotence and capitalism its vitality, since in the last two or three years capitalism has not been destroyed.

"The Third International is now confronted with the question as to whether the immediate future is to be a period of the reconstruction and re-establishment of capitalism or of a growing proletarian pressure. This question I shall attempt to anwer exhaustively before the plenary conference of the Communist Internationale.

"For the present I will only point out these facts:

"The war has destroyed millions of lives and billions in economic value. Capitalism proposes to re-establish the shaken equilibrium.

Agitation Will Spread to U. S.

"We cannot figure out with a pencil whether capitalism will succeed in this plan in the immediate future. We can only say that if the lessons of the war, of the Russian revolution and of the semi-revolution in Germany and Austria. If the lessons of the last seven years have made no impression upon the proletariat, and if the proletariat were to bow its head willingly under the old yoke, then the bourgeoisie would succeed in rehabilitating its former domination, and the weight of its agitation would be transferred to America. Asia and Africa.

"The diplomats and political agents of the bourgeoisie are at work trying to realize this plan.

"Our goal in the battle against world capitalism is not as near at hand as it seemed to us three or four years ago.

"The proletariat consists of many diverse sections, all different in their past and their political education. Owing to the enormous change wrought by the war most of the oppressed and backward elements of the proletariat are today the most impatient and most revolutionary, while those sections that have long taken part in the political evolution are more cautious and more reserved and, indeed, are displaying a certain degree of conservation.

"It is for this reason that the feminist movement has such a great significance for the development of the revolutionary struggle. The army of women wage workers has been tremendously impressed during the war and revolution.

"This is particularly noticeable in the Far East. In Japan, for instance, the number of women wage workers is greater than that of men. That alone is proof that the participation of workers in the common revolutionary movement must grow.

"Among the tasks of the Third Internationale is also the revolution of the western proletariat.

"On the whole, it is hoped that we have grown stronger during the past year, even though events are taking a slower course than we would like.

"We are cured of some of the illusions regarding the rapidity of the pace of the world revolution, but, on the other hand communist organizations have been stronger and more numerous everywhere and are winning over new countries and new sections of the proletariat. In this movement women also must hold their sector of the revolutionary front."

One of the speakers at the conference was Frau Klara Zetkin, German radical feminist leader and member of the Reichstag.

Exposed

(By International News Service)

BOSTON, July 21.—Because his nightshirt looked like a young tent, Jacob Sladkewich was searched, and beneath the robe was found some illegal liquor. The police had entered the house searching for contraband "hooch." They were about to depart empty handed, when they noticed that Jacob's nightie looked extra large. Jacob pleaded guilty in East Boston Court and was fined $50.

YALE AND HARVARD ATHLETES BEGIN TRAINING

(By International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 21.—Harvard and Yale's combined track forces, which are to meet Cambridge and Oxford, of England, in an international meet, have started training for the important event. The Yale men have reported at New Haven and have transferred their quarters to the Preston House, Swampscott, and from there the campaign against the Britons will be developed.

The Elis will be taken to the Harvard Stadium four or five times a week, where they will train under the watchful eye of Coach Johnnie Mack. The remainder of their time will be spent at their seashore headquarters. The Harvard lads are expected to stay around town and join in the Stadium training, although there is a possibility that they, too, will be quartered out of the city. Practice will be held late in the afternoon to escape the heat.

Must Capture Mile to Win

Three Crimson athletes are already on the job. Captain Dennis O'Connell will run the mile. The Harvard weight men—Captain-Elect Jim Tolbert, in the shot-put, and Fiske Brown, in the hammer-throw—also have begun working under Coach Eddie Farrell. Bill Bingham will be head coach of the Harvard team, as he was during the past season.

Ned Gourdin, the wonderful broad jumper and star sprinter, and George Krogness, all-around jumper and hurdler, are two Harvard contestants who have just returned from the National A. A. U. championships at Pasadena. Gourdin looks like a double winner—the hundred and broad jump—although Abrahams, of the English team, is a good man in both events. Krogness is entered in three events—the high hurdles, broad and high jumps.

The indications are that Tommy Campbell will confine his efforts to the half mile against the Britons. Siemans, of the Elis, then would be O'Connel's partner against Stallard, the wonderful Cambridge runner, and Milligan, of Oxford.

If the Americans are to win it looks like they must capture the mile and hurdles to do so. In the past the mile has always been won by a Johnnie Bull, and the timbers by a Yauk. It looks as if the Englishmen will run true to form this Summer and, more than that, may win the hurdles for the first time, mainly because Trowbridge, the former Princeton star, is a "Rhodes" scholar at Oxford. He did 15 4-5 seconds to win the events in the dual meet with Cambridge this Spring.

Yale is using three freshmen—Chapman in the 440; Hulman, in the hurdles, and Douglas in the two miles.

He found his brother.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Drink Lots of Water

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

AUDIENCE FAILS TO ENTHUSE OVER A 'SPIRIT' PLAY

(By International News Service)

PARIS, July 21.—Paris today possesses its theatre of spiritualism where a French actress, Madame de Ghimel, and her husband are to put on daily shows to convince French people the spiritualism is no longer a myth.

Before the curtain went up on a spiritualistic play called "Sous l'Epouvante," a musical concert was given and by its applause the audience showed it evidently enjoyed the musical part of the programme the most. There was also a long conference on spiritualism by Madamme de Ghimel, which seemed to fail to convince her hearers of the wonders of spiritualism, although during the talk a couple of tables began to move across the stage, the leg of one of them coming to rest on the speaker's foot.

As for the star piece it reveals nothing. As the curtain went up one could see a low bed in the far corner of the stage on which lay the body of a French soldier killed in the war. His widow and child stood over the bedside. Nothing and no one moved for fully ten minutes and then the curtain was lowered again and Madamme de Ghimel came forward to say she had not done any practical demonstrating, but would give her audience an opportunity later on to see how true spiritualism was.

His escapade was enacted under the water.

AIRCRAFT GUNNERY NOT DEVELOPED TO ITS HIGHEST

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The gunres of the American navy—who are admittedly the best in the world—will have to learn their business all over again.

This is one fact which has been developed by the bombing tests which the navy has been holding off the Virgina capes and in which the aerial forces have been given fair opportunity to demonstrate their effectiveness against seacraft.

Whatever the scores have been in the aerial bomb dropping, the men of the navy are fully cognizant of the annoyance that airplanes may be in future naval battles, and the first impulse is to shoot the planes out of the air.

Navy gunners have not been inactive in aerial target practice, for during the winter months at Guantanamo they have been banging away at kite balloons and developing this new turn in their profession.

Scores of target practice in the American navy are confidential, but it is an open secret in the battle fleet that the gunners who are so proud of their records of hits on moving surface targets have not as yet set up any records for aerial hits that they can be proud of. In fact, it is whispered about the fleet that no direct hits have yet been scored on the aerial targets, and while it is contended that the shooting has been sufficiently accurate to demonstrate that the naval gunners could make it unpleasant for enemy aviators, the navy will not be satisfied until it has developed an ability to shoot the enemy out of the air as well as out of the water.

Gun sights and range finders are the result of years of experimentation and it is stated that there must be new gun sights and range finders for the antiaircraft guns. The gunners of the navy are not disheartened at their anti-aircraft records, for they point to the records of the world war, which show that an almost negligible number of direct hits were scored against hostile aircraft fleets by batteries.

There are those who say that anti-aircraft fire can never be made effective, but they are not in the navy. The bluejackets who strut about the decks wearing the insignia of naval gunners on their sleeves are fully confident that after sufficient practice and with improved methods of range finding that the navy will be able to "shoot 'em out of the air."

Landlord Raises Roof

(By International News Service)

MARTIN FERRY, Ohio, July 21.—A landlord here ordered a family to vacate.

When the family refused to move the landlord removed the windows and doors.

Due to the heat, this did not bother them, apparently.

But, when the landlord had the roof taken off the tenants left.

Throws Away Money

(By International News Service)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 21.—Promiscuous distribution of genuine $5, $10 and $20 in bills was stopped here yesterday by a patrolman and as a result Fred Kuhn, 53, was lodged in jail. He gave the rest away.

Kuhn was later released on bond, charged with drunkenness.

AGED SLAYER IS GRANTED A PARDON

(By International News Service)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 21.—For the first time in the history of his administration Governor T. C. McRae has exercised his pardon power by commuting the sentence of M. E. Jackson, sixty-eight-year-old slayer, who during 1911 served two weeks of a ten-year sentence, escaped and remained unmolested on his Mississippi county farm for ten years.

Jackson was convicted of slaying John Holland, "bad man," in December, 1910, being actuated, he contended at his trial, by the motive of self-defense. Public sentiment apparently favored the old farmer, as no attempt was made to arrest him following his return home after he had escaped.

Due to a persistent desire of his landlord to sell the farm on which Jackson resided, the aged tiller was taken into custody and returned to the penitentiary. The Sheriff of Mississippi County wrote Governor McRae a letter explaining his reluctance in arresting Jackson. He would not make his arrest, he said, unless ordered to do so by the State.

Following Jackson's return to the penitentiary the governor's office was beseiged with petitions from statesmen and citizens throughout Arkansas urging the chief executive to pardon the old man so that he might spend his last few years with his people.

Germany Wetter Than Ever

(By International News Service)

LONDON, July 21.—According to official statistics issued by the Cologne Prohibitionist Congress, the drink traffic in Germany, which had decreased during the war, is again increasing considerably. Ten million bottles of champagne were sold in Germany last year, while ten thousand million marks were spent on alchoholic liquors.

JAPANESE SEEKS TO ADOPT AMERICAN-BORN BABY

By MICHAEL F. DACEY
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

DENVER, July 21.— International relations and questions of citizenship and Christianity were involved in a case before Judge Ben B. Lindsey in juvenile court here, when application was made for the adoption by an English woman, with a Japanese husband, of an American-born baby.

The citizenship of 15-month-old Mildred Lorraine Jones, daughter of an American mother, hung in the balance while Judge Lindsey pondered over the application of Sen Okayaki, Japanese, for adoption of the child.

According to immigration officials little Mildred, if permitted to go to the Okazakis, would lose her American citizenship and could never regain it except by marriage to an American citizen.

Not willing to take the responsibility of robbing the child of its birthright, Judge Lindsey refused to grant the application for adoption, but declared the baby a dependent of the court and awarded its temporary care to Mr. and Mrs. Okazaki.

Judge Lindsey declared that the child's natural mother had forfeited her rights by neglecting the baby. The mother, now Mrs. Alta Jones Duff, announced that she would continue to fight for her baby, and has appealed to federal officials for the restoration of the child to her.

Witnesses testified that the Okazakis had cared for little Mildred from the time she was a few weeks old and had given her the best of treatment. Testimony was offered by Mrs. Okazaki, a culturd and educated woman, to the effect that the fatherhood of Mildred was uncertain and that the mother had consented in writing to the adoption of the baby when it was first taken by the Okazakis. Mrs. Okazaki stated that she had lost a son born several years ago and related a touching incident of her desire to have Mildred to fill the void caused by the death of her new boy born of her Japanese husband.

Okazaki is an ex-officer of the Japanese army, a graduate of Tokio university, and has taken courses in Columbia and Denver universities. He is now engaged in business in Denver.

In his testimony, he described how, through the loss of his son, born to his Christian wife, he had embraced Christianity, and said that he would have become an American citizen long ago if it had been possible.

Stork Continues Flight

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 21.—The stork refused to allow a traffic cop to interfere with its business here last night. Mrs. Cohen is the mother of ten children.

COLLEGE HAS MONKEY GLAND CURRICULUM

(By International News Service)

TOKIO, July 21.—Following the lead of American, French and Austrian scientists and doctors, in grafting a portion of an animal gland into the interstitial gland of the human body to produce renewed vitality, the Imperial University of Fukuoka, Japan, will soon start experiments of that nature here. The work by the school will be a departure from precedent, however, as it will be the first institution in the world to create a department for such work.

Dr. Yasusaburo Sakaki, who will be in charge of the work, expects to submit both men and women in dotage to the operation, using both monkey and goat glands in making the substitution.

Sues for $5000 for Bite

(By International News Service)

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., July 21.—A leg's a leg for a' that—whether it be the graceful limb of feminity or the strong but unattractive male member.

So thinks Samuel D. Ashby, who, while not claiming the impairment of any beauty, is suing Louis Malandrone and four others for $5,000 for the bite of one female Airdale dog on the leg of the plaintiff, from which the latter became "sick, sore, lame and disordered and remained so for a long space of time."

GEISHAS THEME OF CRITICISM IN JAPAN

By DUKE N. PARRY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKIO, July 21.—Geishas and statesmen is the theme of a recent criticism of the public men of Japan, by Marquis Okuma, sage of Waseda, Tokio, and a former Prime Minister. That the beautiful charmers of the young men of Japan and of the tourists should not be publicly associated with the controllers of the Empire's destinies is the point made by Marquis Okuma. In a characteristically frank and breezy interview given recently in Tokio, the Marquis freely admits that he sowed wild oats when a youth; he even goes so far as to condone the custom of having geisha entertainment. But he seriously objects to the new popular idea in Japan of settling a nation's destinies in a machial (geisha restaurant).

"I don't mind confessing that in my youth I sowed my wild oats," says the Marquis. "But I have more than once warned Prince Yamagala, the so-called ruler of Japan, that the discussion of affairs of state in geisha houses is wrong."

There is perhaps no nation in the world where politics and entertainment are so necessarily mixed as are the politics and entertainments of Japan. Geisha entertainment, consisting of the typical Japanese music and dancing and smart talk by brilliantly dressed young Japanese women is the highest compliment that can be paid a political figure for some political prestige given. Foreign statesmen and new arrivals in Japan are frequently given sumptuous geisha parties and these entertainments are always ranked as among the most distinctively pleasant that a visitor to the Orient has. To maintain the old idea of the geisha house is, in the opinion of Marquis Okuma, quite the thing. But he deplores the meddling of the geisha in politics.

Japan Needs New Front.

"In the former days," continued Marquis Okuma, "politics in Japan were discussed in clubs where women were not admitted. Today they are discussed in the common geisha house. Yamagata, Ito. Terauchi and their crowd, all of them bearing names which are prominent in Japanese history, used to indulge in revelries. I, therefore, do not begrudge the present Cabinet Ministers their enjoyment of the company of beautiful Japanese women. But the statesmanship of Japan suffers when our controlling statesmen advertise the fact that they hold banquets and discuss the Empire's affairs in the geisha house.

IS UTOPIAN UNDER BOLSHEVIK RULE

By NEWTON C. PARKE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 21.—Bolshevik soldiers who invaded the country of Georgia behaved admirably in their attitude toward the civillian population reports Odette Keun, correspondent of the Matin, a newspaper which cannot be suspected of Bolshevik sympathies.

"The supplies of the American Near East Relief Organization, seized at first by the new Bolshevik authorities at Batoum, were returned intact to the American committee when it was seen that their claims were well founded," writes Mlle. Keun from Batoum.

"The shops were not touched. Public schools, closed for several weeks, were reopened by the Bolsheviks. Refugees were transported to their homes. The sale of wine and hard liquors was rigorously prohibited. Strict penalties were imposed against profiteers, and in five days the price of all foodstuffs tumbled from 50 to 75 per cent.

"Naturally, in all the unoccupied rooms were lodged Bolshevik soldiers. Six Bolsheviks sleep in the room next to mine. Though they are replaced from time to time by six others no one can find any complaint against them. Nothing has been stolen; they do not get drunk; they prepare their meals in the same kitchen with the rest of us and even give us part of their flour and their soup, and when they want tea they bring their own sugar. In all occupied villages of Georgia the Bolsheviks have behaved like innocent children."

A special fish is bred in Sion Siam and kept as a pet for its fighting propensities.

A Big Flag FREE

HONOR THE FLAG

The Glendale Daily Press struck a responsive chord in its offer of a beautiful bunting flag with each yearly subscription paid in advance. All we could procure at that time were speedily taken and many applied for the flags after the supply had been exhausted. To satisfy these demands we have ordered a new supply, and these will be given on the same terms as were the first. The Daily Press is not doing this as a money-making proposition, for the flags are quite costly and the paper is worth every cent asked for it, but we desire to do our bit toward stimulating patriotism and reverence for the flag. We hope to eventually see "Old Glory" displayed in every Glendale home, and we want to do our part toward bringing this about.

Fill out the coupon below and bring it or mail it to the office, accompanied with $5 for a year's advance subscription, and a flag will be laid away for you. If in arrears, pay to date and a year in advance to get the flag.

THE RUNABOUT BUNGALOW

Enter into the complexities of modern life the runabout bungalow. And shall it be classed as a new branch in architecture and home building? Why not? No taxes to pay, no rent, no long-term leases and no ties holding one to a certain city or locality. The bungalow on pneumatics may not serve as a stabilizing force in the life of a community, but it is a factor in modern society and cannot be ignored.

To date, these odd-looking vehicles, which vary from the crudest sort of a traveling wagon to complicated and compact bungalows with modern conveniences, are hardly more than a novelty. A city visited by one experiences something of a thrill and the travelers themselves are for the most part novices, making the jaunt as a venture or vacation.

In some respects the flivver-home is the sequel to the prairie schooner of other days, but its possibilities are immeasurably greater. In the first place, the comparative cheapness of a home on wheels is not an inconsequential factor. The cheapest sort of a house which a workman might own would cost more. It is not an inconceivable thing that in the future a "floating population" of workers may come into existence, working in coal-mining districts when there is a demand for labor, and then visiting the great wheat belt of the Middle West during the harvest season, flocking to the orchard districts at fruit picking time, and so on, roaming about the country in a manner never before possible.

Many students of industrial problems say the greatest obstacle to a higher standard for labor is the problem of seasonal work. Industries employ many men a part of the year and at other times work is so slack that the savings of the laborer is eaten up by idleness. What the runabout bungalow will do to solve this problem remains for the future, but there are many possibilities.

WHO'S BOSS?

When you see a sedan you can nearly figure who is boss in the family.

Very often one member of the family will want certain windows open and the others will want them closed, and it is usually the men who want the fresh air, no matter how much dust comes with it.

But why should an automobile ride be spoiled by the inflexible demands of one or the other member of the family, especially by the obstinancy of either husband or wife?

If a ride is to be disagreeable, why go?

If there is a constant wrangle over where one shall go or how, why own a machine?

In regard to window opening and closing, there should be a give-and-take spirit, and this spirit should extend from the husband and wife to all members of the household.

Neither husband nor wife has a right to be dictator and insist upon certain ideas being carried out all the time.

One person's comfort should not mean discomfort to all the rest.

If the truth could be known, wouldn't it be a fact that every man nurses the hope that some day he will catch a burglar, take his gun away from him and march him down to the police station?

GRAVE AND GAY

Crool, Crool!

"I suppose," sniffed Mrs. Giddigad, "if something yould happen to me tomorrow you would look for another wife right away?"

"Oh, no—I'd wait until the next day, at least."

"You brute."

"But Gwendolin—"

"And like as not you'd do just like some other men I know who have second wives."

"What's that?"

"Carry their breakfasts to them up in bed."

"Perhaps!"

"Gomer Giddigad, do you know what I'd do then?"

"No."

"Well, sir, I'd come right up into the room and haunt you."

"You'd come right up into the room where I'd be serving breakfast to my second wife?"

"Yes, I would."

"And then do you know what I'd do?"

"No."

"Well, I'd say to you: 'Gwendolin, get busy now, and please remove the dishes.'"

Harsher Name

"How old are you, Uncle Eph?"

"Ninety years old, sah."

"You're a fine example of longevity."

"Sah?"

"I say you are a fine example of longevity."

"Yas, sah. Thank you, sah. But when my ol' 'oman is hard at work an' I'm settin' in de sunshine dat ain't whut she calls me."

Natural Error

Reveille had been sounded and Private Pence came running out with his leggings on wrong. He jumped into the ranks and snapped into attention, but not until after the top kick had noticed his lapse from military sartorial perfection.

"Private Pence," he demanded angrily, "why have you your leggings on wrong?"

"It was just a personal mistake," answered the offender.

"Mistake?"

Yes. I had my legs crossed when I put them on."

In Low Spirit

"You have a woman mayor here?"

"Yes. She's just been elected and her husband is about the uneasiest man in town."

"Why so?"

"He's told several of his friends confidentially that if his wife still has the same opinion of him she had before the election he's slated for the job of dog catcher."

Walter Was Irritated

It is, perhaps, unncessary to give the name of the New England city which is the residence of the lad who figures in this story.

There had been a visitor, and to this lad she said: "And so this is little Walter? My, my! What a big boy you've grown to be! I wouldn't have believed it possible."

"Mother," said Walter when the visitor had gone, "doesn't it pass your comprehension how persons in whom one would naurally expect an ordinary degree of intelligence appear to believe, all history and nature to the contrary, that the children of their acquaintance will always remain infants and persist in expressing surprise when they observe the perfectly natural increase in one's stature?"

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

By JOSEPHINE FRANCE

Ever So Important

It is a season when stockings must be selected carefully—as carefully as hats. For hosiery and hats are equally conspicuous and equally important in the scheme of the costume. The very short skirts of the moment not only give opportunity to display pretty hosiery, but they also make hosiery one of the most important adjuncts of the costume. Not only the color of stockings must be right, but also the style, the material and the quality. Women are paying far more for stockings now than they ever did before and this is not so much because prices are high but because it is realized that quality is essential when stockings are putting themselves os much in evidence as they are now.

It always pays to buy the very best stockings. Good ones outlast cheap ones, even with hard wear, many times over. The economical woman finds it far wiser to buy a few pairs of fine-quality stockings and wash them every night or two herself than to invest in enough cheaper hose to last until the regular laundry day of the house come around. One must have a good many pairs, however, to suit all the fancies of fashion this Summer. There must be black stockings and tinted stockings in addition to the white one demanded by white sport shoes. There must be special stockings for dancing and for the promenade and for tennis and other Summer sports. There must be bathing stockings and there must be, perhaps stockings to match one's negligees. And no woman can get along without several pairs of woolen stockings which are the smart thing with country and sport shoes.

Before you go shopping for your Summer hosiery learn a little about stockings and do not be enticed by attractive signs on bargain tables. Be very sure the marked-down stockings are not "slightly damaged" ones—with the damage a tiny split in the threads exactly over the instep where it will loom as large as a ten cent piece in effect. And do not be misled by a seam down the back of bargain stockings. All seamed stockings nowadays are not full-fashioned ones as they used to be. Cunning manufacturers put a seam down the back of unshaped hose made exactly like the clumsy "seamless" sort—except for the straight seam added for no other purpose than to mislead people (either the purchaser or the observer) into believing that the stockings are more expensive "full-fashioned" one. Seamless stockings have no shape at all; they are just long tubes pressed into shape, and one washing does away with the shape leaving the straight tube to adjust itself as best it may on the limb; which usually means that the ankles bulge and the part over the knee is too small—and the foot has shrunk to distressing proportions.

So it hardly pays to buy such stockings, even if the price is attractive to your econmical soul. There are no really good full-fashioned stockings now at pre-wartime prices and one might as well make up one's mind to it and pay the new price for the kind of hosiery that will give good service. And when you buy your stockings make sure of two or three things—never mind the salespersons' insistence that "these are size nine—just what you asked for." Be sure that the foot is long enough. Many a size nine develops into a seven and a half when you try to put your foot into it. If the foot of the stocking will fold around your clenched fist, toe and heel meeting easily, the stocking is about your size, no matter what numeral is printed on it. But if you really want to get a pair of seamless stockings because of a bargain price, ask for a size several sizes larger than you wear—if you don't you will regret it after the first washing! Be sure, also, that there is plenty of "give" to the top of the stockings at the hem. Even the best makes vary in this repect. Some stockings stretch much more easily at the top and nobody wants to buy an "extra size" unless she has to. "Extra size" stockings are apt to have baggy ankles and, of course, they cost a little more. There are inexpensive stockings which have good flexible tops and there are expensive stockings that bind above the knee. Find out the make that suits you best and stick to it.

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

An unusual photoplay is promised in "The Woman God Sent," featuring Zena Keefe, which deals with the career of a girl who invades the realm of politics and bests man at his own game. There are many surprises and thrills. Running through it all is a delightful love story.

"The Woman God Sent" was written by Sophie Irene Loeb and directed by Larry Trimble.

Frank Urson, who directed the picture, had taken Wallace Reid and others of his company out to get some of the race scenes for the picture, in which the star plays the role of a speed pilot. When he saw the box and its inmates he planted his camera as close as possible and without revealing his purpose, proceeded to get several close-up shots, all of which were incorporated in the picture.

A representative group of the best known figures in the film world will be seen as mere "extras" in Wallace Reid's new Paramount picture, "Too Much Speed."

The notables include Cecil B. DeMille, Jesse L. Lasky, Sid Grauman, a prominent Los Angeles exhibitor, Neil McCarthy, counsel for Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, Betty Compson, recently signed to star in Paramount Pictures, Gloria Swanson, Paramount star, Herbert Somborn, her husband and a well-known western financier, and several members of Mr. DcMille's family.

The occasion was the day of the big automobile speed match on the new Beverly Speedway, near Los Angeles, held early in 1921, those named occupied a box in the grandstand and were intently watching the races.

The story in the "Husband Hunter," featuring Eileen Percy in the stellar role relates the experience of a young girl who decides to marry a man she never has seen—and develops situations that are uproarously mirthful from start to finish. Its concluding climax is a most amusing surprise.

Wallace Reid's latest Paramount picture, "Too Much Speed," is one of the most delightful of Reid's automobile race pictures and the leading characters of the production, having been introduced in "What's Your Hurry?" are familiar to screen audiences. Agnes Ayres and Theodore Roberts are the principals in the support.

OF INTEREST TO MUSICIANS

Mary Jordan, following closely upon the success of her transcontinental tour, made a series of apppearances in the middle west, which culminated in one of the greatest successes of her season—a concert given under the auspices of the American Legion in Omaha. Her popularity with the American Legion is well established, for when New York gave its reception to General Pershing in Carnegie hall, Miss Jordan was the only soloist, and it was she who was chosen again a month or two later for the annual meeting of the Legion. On her return trip from Omaha, she sang in Godfrey, Ill., at the Monticello Seminary, where she has been engaged to return next season, although heretofore, the custom has been not to engage the same artist for consecutive seasons.

The music students in Chicago have many opportunities to hear the world's most distinguished artists. Besides the famous teachers to be found in the private schools, the students have chances to hear the Chicago Opera and the Chicago Symphony orchestra during the regular musical season, and in the Summer to hear the grand opera performances and symphonic works at Ravina and especially the well-given light opera at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The week's activities consist mostly of commencement exercises. Monday evening the Chicago College of Music gave a concert at the Blackstone theatre directed by the capable Ester-Harris Duo.

On Tuesday the American Conservatory presents some of its talented students at the Auditorium.

Alexander Siloti, the Russian pianist who visited this country twenty-three years ago, will return next season for a concert tour under the management of George Engles. The pianist, a pupil of Liszt, will arrive early in January. He will make his initial appearance with the St. Louis Symphony orchestra, under Rudolf Ganz, in a pair of concerts, January 6 and 7. Other recital engagements in the middle west have made it necessary to defer Mr. Siloti's New York hearing until the middle of February, when he will play with the New York Symphony orchestra, under Albert Coates.

The debut of Freida Hempel at Copenhagen recently is said to have been most sensational in the annals of the city. More than 3000 people who were unable to obtain tickets waited to cheer the artist as she left the theatre. The greatest excitement prevailed in the hall. A fanfare was played, the entire audience standing. There were countless recalls and insistent demands for encores.

Mischa Elman has filed a suit in the supreme court of the State of New York against Florenz Ziegfeld, jr., of theatrical fame. The amount demanded is $100,000 on the grounds of breach of contract. Elman claims that Ziegfeld entered into a contract with him, by which he (Elman) was to compose a light opera; that he was to receive $10,000 when he started work, which was to be upon delivery to him of the book; that Ziegfeld did not deliver the book at the specified time, and that, when it was delivered, three lyrics were missing; that he went through with his part of the contract, but that Ziegfeld refused to accept the music and the orchestration and to produce the opera. Besides the $10,000 bonus, Elman states that he was to receive a 3 per cent royalty.

Music as a substitute for ether in an operation was tried out in Boston the other day and the result was gratifying to both surgeon and patient.

When Oscar J. Kelley, of South Boston, was taken to a hospital with a bullet in his thigh, he objected to being put under the influence of an anethetic while the surgeon probed for the bullet. He called for his harmonica and played gaily.

Forfeits Fortune to "Star" in Home

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—It has been whispered about among the more exclusive of Southern California realtors that a bride "who is giving up $100,000 annually just to learn how to cook" is looking for a site for a fine new home.

The Los Angeles correspondent of the International News Service investigated and verified the report, with the exception that he found the bride is giving up $104,000 a year to become what she terms 'a plain, every-day wife." It was also learned that she is of a distinguished family which boasts of two "movie" stars of the first magnitude, that but recently she married a "movie" comedian, and that she has appeared in a number of successful films.

The bride, Mrs. Natalie Talmadge Keaton, sister of Norma and Constance Talmadge, and bride of Buster Keaton, tells, in the following article, why she would rather be a "queen in a home," instead of a "queen in the films."

By Mrs. Natalie Talmadge Keaton
(Written for the International News Service)

I am going to take up an experiment costing me $104,000 to determine whether I can become a successful housewife.

In other words, I am turning down an offer of $2000 weekly in real, honest-to-goodness money, which would be paid to me if I appeared in the "movies," because I want to "star" in a kitchen role.

I think I know what some really intelligent people will say when they read this.

I feel right now that something to this effect will be said:

"Oh, very well! She'll be glad enough to get back to the 'fill-ums' when the novelty wears off. Let her stand over a hot range and wrestle with pots and pans like I have done these twenty years and she'll likely change her mind."

Or this, for example, may be said:

"It will be a cinch the way this little Keaton woman will keep house. Why, any poor simp could bask in ease half the time, with the conveniences she will have. There'll be a whole fleet of automobiles to dash here to there. Then there'll probably be a flock of servants, and everything will be of push-a-button sort, and, presto! the work is done."

And again, someone may volunteer an unkind remark like this:

"Oh, she's probably going to wash a few dishes and 'hold out' on some film promotor to get a little publicity!"

In Search of a Home

I received not only one offer commanding a salary of $104,000 a year, but several. One of them reached the "please sign here on the dotted line" stage. But when I made up my mind to marry Buster Keaton I also made up my mind that I was to be the manager of our home, and a real manager I will be.

At present I am looking over Los Angeles and vicinity for a site for that home. I prefer that it be on a high hill. It will be big and roomy. There will be a vegetable garden, a flower garden, a bridle-path for horseback riding, and a swimming pool. For years I have been building a "castles of dreams," and this is to be my castle. I will be just an old-fashioned housewife and plan to make the hours spent in my home the golden hours of my life.

I am studying the likes and dislikes of my husband. I have learned that he is fond of such plebeian dishes as corned beef and cabbage, pork chops, cornbread and corn on the cob.

Riddle of the "Movies" Struck

I have not been so busy in films but that I could devote a little time to domestic science. I could pursue it only at odd hours, yet I managed to learn to turn out what my relatives said was fairly good cooking. I can do considerably more than fix a mess of corned beef and cabbage for Buster. But if he prefers that dish he will get it, and it will be prepared in the bst way I know how.

It seems rather strange to me that I have heard quite a few "movie" struck girls sigh and yearn for a career on the silver sheet. And here I am sighing and yearning for career in a home—perhaps just the sort of a home that some of these girls would forsake for a career in motion pictures.

But I am yearning for more than a home. I am yearning for contenment. And just between you and I, dear reader, I will tell you the underlying cause of my decision. It is:

Because I love my husband more than anything else in the world. I want to make him happy, so that he can be successful. If he is successful, then I will be pleased. For his happiness will be my happiness.

BIRTH OF AN EMPIRE RESULT OF RAILROAD

(By International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., July 21.—The romantic history of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, the only State-owned railroad in the United States, was recently related by Chairman C. Murphy Candler, showing that the road has brought about much of the progress of this part of the South, creating the city of Atlanta out of a "mere point eight miles east of the Chattahoochee river" and developing the tiny trading point of Ross's Landing into the present city of Chattanooga. The original purpose of the road was to link the South with the grainfields of the West, explained Mr. Candler. From an original investment of $5,000,000 the State of Georgia has realized $18,000,000 from the two leases running for forty years and for the next fifty years will receive $32,500,000 revenue from the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad, the present lessee.

Chairman Candler severely criticized the action of the State in disposing of part of its terminal ground in Atlanta and Chattanooga and urged that no further space be sold.

Would Bar Flanders Poppy

(By International News Service)

BOSTON, July 21.—The Flanders poppy, revered by many as a symbol of some one dear to them who lost his life on a Belgian battlefield, was roundly condemned by Dr. Arthur W. Gilbert, State Commissioner of Agriculture, who warns against importing the flower.

Dr. Gilbert does not base his objections on sentimental but on economic grounds. He sees the gaudy poppy as an agricultural menace.

"If it continues to be planted here it is likely to become a second oxyed daisy," he said. "In Flanders it is not cultivated for its beauty or cherished for its sentiment. It is seen in large quantities there because its growth has got beyond the control of the authorities."

He declared the poppy could easily rival the "Brown-eyed Susan" in damaging the hay crop.

Police Wireless Soon

By International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Communication via wireless between police departments over the country in an effort to capture fugitive criminals will soon become a reality, according to Chief Dan O'Brien, of the San Francisco Police Department.

Chief O'Brien was appointed a member of a committee, named at the recent international convention of police chiefs in St. Louis, to work out plans for the installation of such a system, which it is claimed will make the apprehension of criminals more rapid as well as less expensive. The plan is to install a wireless connection between all large cities and use code entirely when furnishing a description of the criminal wanted. By the wireless plan all cities could be furnished information concerning the person wanted simultaneously, which would eliminate much time now lost through telegraphing every city.

Tentative plans looking into the establishment of a wireless network will be taken up in the near future, Chief O'Brien announced.

NEW BOOZE POLICY MAY PROVE AID TO BOOTLEGGERS

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Booze hunters along the bootleg trail, ever alert for some encouraging sign, hail with satisfaction the "rule of reason" policy promulgated by Roy Haynes, new dry law chief. Haynes' policy was not framed for bootlegers' benefit, but is aimed to lessen some of the restrictions over legitimate users of intoxicating liquors.

But it carries much cheer to the ranks of the illicit handlers of high voltage beverage. Haynes, under the new regime, will be forced to deal more generally with the classes of business men and concerns entitled to withdraw and use whisky and other liquors for commercial purposes. This moderate relaxation away from the very rigid standard established by the former regime may open up new sources for bootlegers.

Although dry chiefs fully realize the danger, they take the position that legitimate enterprise must not be too severely hampered. Commissioner Haynes has promised representatives of large drug interests and agents of the chemical industries that his policy will be to facilitate and encourage enterprises by making it less difficult to obtain liquors.

This broader policy toward legitimate user of intoxicants in the arts and sciences contemplates the complete redrafting of a code of rules which have held manufacturers and other user of liquors to embarrassing limits. The removal of many of these restrictions brings cheer to the bootlegger, who may find it possible to return to the old method of securing diversion of liquor supplies legally withdrawn from bond.

PREDICTED FIGHT TIME ONE SECOND SHORT

(By International News Service)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 21.—A tick of the clock prevented three Alabamans from predicting correctly the length of time which the Dempsey-Carpentier fight would run. Mrs. J. C. Fuchs and W. R. Peck, of this city, and Harold Fullmer, of Leeds, each predicted the fight would last ten minutes and fifteen seconds. Each missed being correct by one second and tied for first place in the contest staged by a local newspaper. Sport critics believe these to be the most accurate predictions made anywhere in the world concerning the length of the fight.

Marriage Records Decline

(By International News Service)

DEFIANCE, Ohio, July 21.—Cupid is glum.

The romance is gone from his work and his darts fly wide.

Old man High Cost has been whispering his warning counsel into the ears of prospective brides.

Consequently, the books in Probate Court here show four marriages less last month than during June last year.

Guard Jail From Burglars

(By International News Service)

TEXARKANA, Ark., July 21.—Deputy Sheriff Sain thrice chased would-be burglars away from the jail here after they had attempted to cut through the bars and gain entrance.

"When men try to break into a jail," observed the Deputy Sheriff as he went to investigate, "there must be a reason."

The reason was a gallon of bonded whisky.

Trade Crooks Use Rich Men's Names

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 21.—A warning against crooks who have been using the names of well-rated merchants to obtain merchandise was issued today by J. H. Tregoe, executive secretary of the National Association of Credit Men, when he sent a message to the 33,000 manufacturers, wholesalers and bankers who are members of that institution.

Mr. Tregoe announced that the Investigation-Prosecution Department of his association has just inaugurated a country-wide campaign to block the latest move made by professional commercial swindlers who have already obtained valuable goods by trading on the name of large concerns. Some of the merchandise obtained by the trade crooks has been recovered by the association.

Manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers are warned against shipping merchandise to applicants for credit merely upon a rating, without obtaining a credit report, which, in addition to showing the antecedents of the applicants, would give their correct address. Even though the houses highly rated are perfectly good, credit grantors should make sure that the persons applying for credit are really connected with the houses rated and not trading under the same name at a different address. These swindlers apply for credit and refer to rating books regarding their ability to pay. Finding the rating to be satisfactory, the seller ships the goods to the address given by the applicants, who maintain fly-by-night headquarters, which often are on the same street as are located the quarters of the regular merchants.

Business Mulcted of $500,000

"Mr. C. D. West, manager of the Investigation-Prosecution Department, is determined to end the newest move made by these swindlers," says Mr. Tregoe's statement. "Following an extensive investigation, Mr. West reports that business has been mulcted of at least $500,000 through this practice."

Mr. West, who achieved considerable fame recently when he exposed a scheme where commercial crooks trained cats to set fires, in an interview today said:

"It is our hope that, after we have secured the conviction of these commercial crooks, the courts will impose adequate sentences. Some of the professional swindlers against whom we have secured indictments have received trifling sentences. These commercial crooks are really more dangerous to society than petty thieves, such as pickpockets and shoplifters, as their loot represents many thousands of dollars. These dishonest men are thoroughly organized and have sufficient funds with which to carry on their crooked operations and work under master minds who furnish the outlet for the merchandise obtained. They use 'sucker' lists' containing the names of firms who are not cautious enough in granting credit. Commercial crime is in a large measure new to the courts and is not well understood by prosecutors or by judges. At the present time we have a large number of cases pending in the courts which have been delayed due to the congestion therein.

Credit Secured by Impersonation

"Lowering morals in society and business have been reflected in an increase of crime. Commercial crime has not increased proportionately to social crime, but it has increased, as shown in the brief statistics we offer above. It was but natural to expect some outburst of commercial crime when morals generally had lowered. This does not impeach the value of the department as a preventive of crime. Our organization believes the absence of such a protective department would have been reflected in a much larger increase of commercial crime than credit has had to contend with in the past twelve months.

"One Louis Nabel, alias Sam Nedler, of New Haven, Connecticut, started operations in Cincinnati, at No. 600 Main street, under the name of I. Glanzberg, in so doing impersonating one I. Glanzberg, of No. 603 Broadway, Cincinnati. He ordered merchandise in large quantities through the mails. These orders were filled promptly by credit men under the impression that they were extending the credit to I. Glanzberg, the well-rated merchandise, at No. 603 Broadway. Nabel was arrested April 22, along with his confederate, Abe Garocoff, alias A. Garry, alias A. Levine, of Bridgeport, Connecticut. Both are being held under $20,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury. The merchandise on being received was immediately shipped by mail and American Railway Express to the home of Louis Nabel in New Haven, Connecticut, at which place his wife was located, having in her possession a large part of the merchandise. She was arrested. This is only one of a number of similar transactions of Nabel, for he has been identified as one Max Greenberg under indictment in Detroit, Michigan, for participation in a similar scheme, that of impersonating and ordering merchandise on the credit of a well-rated merchant.

"Our department has handled a number of cases wherein parties dealing exclusively in the wholesale grocery line and operating under master minds have made most flagrant failures, involving a sum totaling in excess of $300,000, on which the department has made a recovery of concealed assets in amount exceeding $110,000. It has sixteen of the parties involved under indictment and awaiting trial."

"NOTHING TOO GOOD FOR OUR SOLDIERS"

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 21.—"The fact that the ex-service man is becoming embittered toward the financial and business interests of the country by reason of their opposition to adjusted compensation for him is laying the foundation for a far greater economic loss than would the payment of a cash bonus."

These are the words of Colonel H. M. Bush, member of the Ohio National Guard, well-known throughout Ohio, and who saw active service overseas during the recent World War.

Arguing in favor of the cash bonus for soldiers, addressing the military committee of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, Colonel Bush continued:

"We promised the American soldier when he went to France nothing would be too good for him when he returned. We have kept our word—for nothing is what he has received."

Spooning Motorist Scored

(By International News Service)

ALBANY, July 21.—The town constable of Sparrowbush, Orange County, is all "riled up."

There's been too much "one-hand driving" of automobiles to suit him and he has suggested to Secretary of State John J. Lyons that the law should put a stop to it. Not but that there are one-hand drivers who are proficient, but the constable says the other hand is usually appended to a contracting arm nestling close to "some young thing's waist."

"People are traveling at night in their cars without lights after 9 and 10 o'clock," he complained to the Secretary of State. "Is there any law against spooning and one-hand driving?"

Salvage Trophy Schooner

(By International News Service)

HALIFAX, N. B., July 21.—Work is being continued in the attempt to salvage the trophy winning schooner Esperanto, which foundered off Sable Island. The vessel had been partly raised when she slipped back onto her resting place on the bed of the ocean.

Canucks to Build School

(By International News Service)

WOONSOCKET, R. I., July 21.—French Canadians of this city have launched a campaign for the purpose of raising $500,000 for the erection of a textile and manual training school here. People of their race all over the East have been urged to subscribe. A Woonsocket man has already contributed $100,000.

GRAFTERS BECOME A GREAT MENACE

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Grafters, big and small, have become a great menace to the taxpayers, and revenue chiefs are scouring the country to rid cities and towns of this element.

Revenue Commissioner Blair has before him reports showing millions of dollars have been paid out by taxpayers to swindlers. He said there is no possible method of computing the public's real losses through frauds practiced by crooks passing themselves off as "tax experts" or former government attorneys capable of wielding "strong influence at Washington."

Secret service men have already run into nests of schemers of this type in many of the large cities, in which they have centered their operations. On the strength of evidence secured grand juries in several states now are deliberating over indictments.

Indictments expected by Commissioner Blair are expected to involve a number of former government employes who remained in the government service long enough to gain access to the private files of officials and then have resigned to use the knowledge so acquired for illicit profit.

Commissioner Blair said he will prosecute such swindlers to the limit of the law penalties in every case where proofs are conclusive. Special agents report that many of the swindlers have caused taxpayers to underestimate their true liability to the government and they have made false returns. The swindlers have charged large fees for such advice as was given. In the process the taxpayer has lost money, has become a perjurer, and the government has sustained losses which are incalculable.

Perhaps the most quickly written hymn was "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," which was composed by Bishop Heber in a little more than fifteen minutes.

TO SAIL FOR SOUTH SEA IN SMALL YAWL

(By International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—Harry Pidgeon who, single-handed, sailed his little 34-foot yawl "Islander" from Los Angeles harbor to Honolulu and back, last summer, is again consumed with the Pacific ocean wanderlust and is reported to be outfitting for a longer cruise. He will leave shortly for the South Sea islands in the Islander, heading for the Marquesas, some 3000 miles southwest of the local port.

The mariner, who is 56 years old, had his first taste of cruising on the Mississippi river in 1903, when he drifted down that stream in a flat-bottomed craft from Minneapolis to New Orleans. On this boat he had no sails, just a pair of big sweeps, with which he prevented the craft from being swept ashore by the current on the way downstream.

Later he went to Alaska, where he prospected for a number of years, having his first taste of the ocean aboard vessels running between Puget Sound and Alaska.

He has "read up" on the Marquesas islands and believes he will find them most interesting. If all goes well he may continue his voyage to other islands in the South Pacific.

Got The Best of Him

As Harry, who is six years old, came in the back door, he was saying to himself: "Well, I got the best of him that time."

His mother happened to be in the kitchen. "Harry, have you and the neighbor boy been fighting again?" she asked.

Harry was quick to reply: "Not this time. You know when he was over here last week, we made a kite, and you made me let him take it home with him. Yesterday we made a birdhouse, and he had to take it home. So today we dug holes, and he didn't take them home with him."

Dead Horse Ties Up Traffic

(By International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 21.—Tired and exhausted from hauling a dray wagon for many a day, Old Dobbin dropped his weary bones in a heap across a public park drive here and refused to breathe any more. Stretched in full length across the drive, he blocked traffic via the road he had selected for his demise.

Being outside the city limits local authorities refused to remove the carcass and it remained there three days. Then spurred by the decomposition of the quadruped's body, citizens in the vicinity prevailed upon the owner of the drayage concern to remove the obstruction and give it proper burial. Traffic has been resumed as usual in the park.

WARNS OF DANGER IN ALBERTA WASTES

By International News Service

EDMONTON, Alberta, July 21.—If you are thinking of adventuring to the Fort Norman oil fields, think a long time longer before you start. That's the warning of Theodore A. Link, geologist and pioneer explorer of the MacKenzie river basin.

The country is a frozen wilderness a thousand miles from nowhere, according to Mr. Link. It is dotted with infrequent posts of the Hudson Bay Company and has always been regarded as worthless except for its wealth in furs.

"Before a railroad or pipe line is built into the region," said Mr. Link, "an output of 30,000 barrels a day must be assured. There is only one well there now. Its output is 1500 barrels a day. To drill it cost $150,000 and it took seven months to get the machinery in. To sink enough wells to insure 30,000 barrels a day would cost several million dollars, to say nothing of the time it will take to ship in the machinery. The building of a pipe line would cost $50,000,000. A railroad would cost $30,000 a mile.

There may be a bonanza field on the MacKenzie or there may not. One well does not prove it. But even if there is plenty of oil there, hundreds of thousands of dollars must be expended before the field can be put on a paying basis. A few investors may get rich, but a little army of men will go broke. Hunting for oil in that country is not a job for a poor man."

Mr. Link and John Zieman started their geological explorations ninety miles north of Fort Norman. They went into country never before seen by a white man. They floundered through windfalls and muskeg swamps. They climbed mountains 3000 feet high. Black flies and mosquitoes enveloped them in clouds. Within the Arctic Circle the blazing heat of the sun almost prostrated them. They were almost swamped in crossing Great Slave Lake. Again they nearly lost their lives in shooting Smith's Rapids.

The World's Greatest Dam

Plans have been made to build a dam on the Colorado river which will hold back a volume of water equal to two years' flow of the entire 1800 miles of rushing river. The dam is to be 700 feet high, approximately the height of the Woolworth building in New York city. This dam will form a reservoir with an area of 200 square miles and an average depth of 350 feet. This body of water will constitute the largest artificial lake in the world. One western railroad system is already planning to operate a fleet of steamers to carry tourists over this man-made lake to the Grand canyon, the wonder spot of America. The Panama canal is the only undertaking ever attempted in America which may be compared in magnitude or boldness of conception to this engineering project, which will transform an empire of waste into a region of productivity.

Simple Father

He was a good-hearted, but rather simple-minded father, and he said to his son: "John, I've been informed that if anyone buried a half-dollar in the garden at night and let the moon shine on it the next morning it would be a five dollar goldpiece."

"Well, dad," answered the son, "I should try it; you never know your luck."

The father agreed. When morning arrived he hurried into the garden. The coin had disappeared. He rushed back into the house and exclaimed to John: "It's gone, John! How do you account for that?"

John answered modestly: "All I can suggest, dad, is that you got up too late and the sun (son) got at it.

The Princess Cantacuzene, who was Julia Dent Grant before her marriage, said recently, at a Palm Beach dinner: "I once met Li Hung Chang at my grandmother's house. The great Chinnese statesman was at that time over eighty years old, but his mind was as charming and whimsical as ever. My grandmother and he got into an argument as to the relative merits of American and Chinese marriage customs, and Chung said, with twinkling eyes: 'Your young people fall in love and then marry. Our young people marry and then fall in love. It is like two kettles of water. Yours, the American, is taken at the boiling point off the fire by marriage and grows cooler and cooler. Our Chinese kettle is full of cold water; marriage puts it on the fire and it keeps getting warmer and warmer ever afterwards that after fifty or sixty years we are madly in love with each other.'"

An ad in our Classified columns today will bring business tomorrow.

THEATRES

Glendale Theatre

A genuine picture of rural England life is "Down Home," the Irvin V. Willat production shown again today at the Glendale Theatre. All the delightful old landmarks are there, from the blacksmith shop and the old-fashioned fire department, to the village store where, amid the molasses kegs and bolts of unbleached muslin, the villagers congregate to discuss every topic from the latest invention of rat-traps to why little Mary Ann Jenkins caught the measles.

Here also was taken up, day after day, the question of Nancy Pelot's going to Redburn, the next town, to play the piano at a small wayside inn, and whether or not in so doing she was ruining her reputation. Most of the gossips, men and women, 'lowed as how she had, but young Chet Todd, strong, upright lad that he was, scorned their chatter. He was very much in love with the appealing young girl who was struggling so hard to make a living for herself and her aged father, and he determined to prove her innocence.

Thus you are introduced to the various characters in "Down Home," and from this beginning to the very end, your keen interest is sustained.

The comedy which goes with today's picture is best described as "good." The name of the film is "Verse and Worse" and it features Jack Cooper.

Palace Grand

Paris aflutter with the spirit of the carnival season—brightly colored with streets in holiday dress, flags and bunting and almost buried in tons of confetti—this is the sort of Paris that is disclosed in "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson," Billie Burke's new Paramount picture which will be the feature at the Palace Grand today.

It is a picture with the smart setting of the Ritz Tea Room and the atmosphere of the Boulevards; beautiful women in costly gowns and jewels; glimpses of the carnival itself, great crowds in costume, elaborately decorated floats. Comedy and drama are conspicuous elements of the story. Ward Crane is the leading man and others in the excellent cast include Huntly Gordon, Lumsden Hare and Jean de Briac.

On the same bill with "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson" will be shown "Circus Imps" which brings the diminutive actresses Jane and Katherine Lee into action. It is a picture representing juvenile acting at its best and is well worth seeing.

NOVEL PARTY FOR GLEN EYRIE CLUB

Clever Rhymes Instruct and Encourage Guests Present for Cafeteria Lunch

The Social Club of the Glen Eyrie Chapter of the Eastern Star was entertained at the home of Mrs. G. Norman Ball, 516 North Central Avenue Wednesday noon. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Thomas D. Watson, Mrs. Edward Kretchmer, and Mrs. M. B. Dewar.

The guests were greeted by a sign on the front door printed in the Eastern Star colors inviting: "Kum-rite Inn" The Company's fine—The food—? Who Knows—? But take a chance and follow your nose!" Once inside they were further directed by a second sign which read: "Right this way and do not linger—Take your wraps and follow the finger." A succession of fingers pointed the way to the bedroom where the third sign afforded much amusement—"Coats and hats—here's where you leave 'em—Powder your nose and try to deceive 'em." As there were a number of new members present each guest was presented with a slip with her name to wear during the afternoon. There were several rhymes in the living room which furnished entertainment while waiting for luncheon to be served. At one o'clock the guests formed a line in true cafeteria style each taking a tray and being served with the spread from five tables which were decorated with flowers to represent the colors in the five Star points. Along the line of march they were encouraged with rhyme:—"Stay in line—don't let it weary you—It's always like this at a cafeteria." After luncheon candles in the five colors were enjoyed. A social session and business meeting followed at which a picnic for members and their families was planned to be held at Echo Park, Saturday, August 13th. Mrs. Braden, acting as President in the absence of Mrs. Pollock, appointed a refreshment committee consisting of Mrs. Naudain, chairman, Mrs. Philips, Mrs. Rattray and Mrs. MacMillan. A short musical program was then enjoyed. Mrs. Ball played two piano numbers, "Prelude" Op. 28, No. 20, Chopin, and "Bourree," from Third Suite for 'Cello, Bach. Mrs. Dibbern played Nevin's "Rosary" and Mrs. Custer sang "Marble Halls" and "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes." Miss Dorothy Watson's violin solo, "Cantilena," Bohm, concluded the program.

TAXATION CAUSING MUCH WORRY IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Taxation is worrying Republican leaders of Congress today more than at any time since the outset of the present administration.

They admit that the most serious problem they are struggling with is, not how to reduce the gross amount of taxation under which the American people are staggering, but how to prevent it from being materially increased.

The plain, unvarnished truth of the tax situation is admitted to be that no matter how successful Congress is in changing the form of taxation, there is little or no prospect of it being able to lighten the taxes the great mass of the people are compelled to pay.

The tax on ice cream cones the children buy, on the sundae and the "soft drink" are likely to stick. The tax on the railroad or the steamboat fares the passenger digs down for probably will remain.

A reduction of the higher income taxes is promised, and the little fellow is expected to benefit only from the business revival predicted by tax revisions in this direction.

GLENDALE WILL BE REPRESENTED AT POWER MEETING

Determined efforts will be made by the Southern Branch of the State wide Hydro-Electric Committee, when it meets Friday at the chamber of commerce in Pasadena, to counter private interests relative to the development of hydro-electric energy, and weld municipalities of Southern California together with a view to conserving the privilege of developing electrical power to the community as a public project.

Glendale has heretofore been represented at meetings of the Hydro-Electric Committee and will probably be represented again tomorrow in the event that the city council, at its meeting tonight, acts on the request, extended through Grant M. Lorraine, Secretary of the Southern Section of the Hydro-Electric Committee, that two representatives from Glendale be present.

Private Interests Aggressive

Indicative of the attitude of the hydro-electric committee toward the aggressiveness of private interests to usurp control of the development of electrical power is the following statement appearing in a communication received by City Manager, Thomas D. Watson, from this committeee:

"Recent activities of privately operated utilities, political and otherwise, make it imperative that the municipalities of the State pull together. If this is not done, constant alertness of private interests will preclude for all time the possibilities of municipalities becoming interested in the development of Hydro-Electric Energy."

Define Municipal Attitude

In order that the attitude of Los Angeles may be defined toward other communities of Southern California and for the purpose of answering charges leveled by private interests at civic hydro-electric projects, W. B. Mathews, Special Counsel, and E. F. Scattergood, Chief Electrical Engineer of the Department of Public Service of Los Angeles, will be present at the meeting as speakers. Governor Stephens, who is said to be interested in this matter, will also be present as a speaker.

Many municipalities throughout the state have already expressed their intention of entering into an agreement to develop hydro-lectric power, it is reported. Representatives from these cities will probably be present. to discuss the possibilities of electric power as a public utility.

"COME BOYS, HAVE ANOTHER MELON"

BURLINGTON, Col., July 21.—"Come on boys, have another melon on (hic) me, whe!"

This is the kind of conversation that will be heard around the hooch melon bars this winter, if plans of the Burlington Melon Growers company, for producing an intoxicating cantaloupe, materialize.

The melon growers of these parts have a scheme for making cantaloupe highly alchoholic by inserting a dose of yeast into each one while it is still on the vine. They fail to see how the Volstead law applies to fruit with a kick, and visualize an era wherein the melon will be the food of the night before, instead of the morning after, and husbands stumbling up the stairs, will explain to wives:

"I can't shee, m'dear, just how two honeydews could 'fect me thish way."

The growers reported today, that their crops of hooch-melons were doing unusually well. The weather has been very favorable and they expect to be able to begin plugging the melons and inserting the yeast the first week in August.

Growers said today they were receiving inquiries from all over the United States as to the size of their crop and also many offers to buy their formulas, or to buy all or any part of the crop. They have turned down all offers however.

Sues Pullman Co. for Cold

By International News Service)

WORCESTER, Mass., July 21.—The Pullman Company of Boston is defendant in an unusual $5,000 suit, filed in the Superior Court by Nathan Jasen, of Worcester, who claims that bcause of a defect in a Pullman car in which he was a passenger December 7, 1920, he suffered a severe cold, which later developed into bronchitis.

An alleged opening at the side of his berth is the defect claimed.

July Rains

There was a sprinkle of rain in Glendale yesterday afternoon for nearly an hour, something unusual for July. At Riverside quite a heavy shower was reported.

GLENDALE'S WATER RATES CHEAPEST IN COUNTY

Some complaint is hear from residents of territory just outside of the Glendale limits because water and light rates are higher than in the city proper. For instance, the minimum water rate, for 700 cubic feet, is $1 in the city and $1.50 outside, while the rate for additional water is 7 cents per 100 cubic feet inside and 10 cents outside. This is a discrimination all cities make, however, but Glendale's rate to outsiders is much more reasonable that those of other cities. For instance, Los Angeles' minimum inside the city limit is 75 cents, but that is for 400 cubic feet against Glendale's 700. For additional service the rate is 10 cents per 100 cubic feet against Glendale's 7 cents. Outside residents must pay $1.25 minimum of 400 cubic feet and 15 cents per 100 cubic feet additional, by the terms of a recent ordinance.

Outside residents who have demurred at coming into the city because they would then have to pay city taxes, but they have found that said taxes would not amount to as much, by a considerable sum, as the additional amount they are justly required to pay for water and light service, according to records in the city hall.

Glendale now supplies water and light to residents of Casa Verdugo, North Glendale, a small section of Eagle Rock and small parts of Los Angeles.
